and their practical methods of identification using measured input/output data. Since it is impossible to include all methods proposed in literature during the past three decades, only the most important methods for establishing parametric, nonparametric, semi-parametric and specific nonlinear models are discussed. The corresponding methods for identifying the parameters as well as the

Nonlinear System Identification Google Books

Fifteen years ago, nonlinear system identification was a field of several ad-hoc approaches, each applicable only to a very restricted class of systems. With the advent of neural networks, fuzzy models, and modern structure optimization techniques a much wider class of systems can be handled. Although one major characteristic of nonlinear systems is that almost every nonlinear system is
