How to test an application for correct encoding e g UTF 8

They aren't perfect, but they get us 99.9% of the way there. Than we have a few regular expressions to strip out funky characters that somehow make there way in at times. If you are going international, you definitely want to use UTF-8. We have yet to find the perfect solution for getting all of our data into UTF-8, and i'm not sure one exists. You just have to keep tinkering with it.
